• Emily in the land of bad humour

One morning Emily gets angry and shuts herself in her room which is magically transformed into the Land of bad humour. In this world there are many things that everybody knows you can't do: you can't be funny, or tender or care about somebody else. Soon, Emily realize that she wants to get out of that place and recover the joy.

A simple and poetic story about what happens when children get angry and don't know how to be happy again.

• The most wanted gift

As all fur toys know, nobody has an owner until he is sold. But they are some toys which think that the real owner is the one that really cares about what he got.

That's why a fur dog decides to abandon the toy shop and look for his real owner, a little girl who really wanted him. But, in the way, he has to fight, not only with the dangers of the city, but with the prejudices of his own buddies.

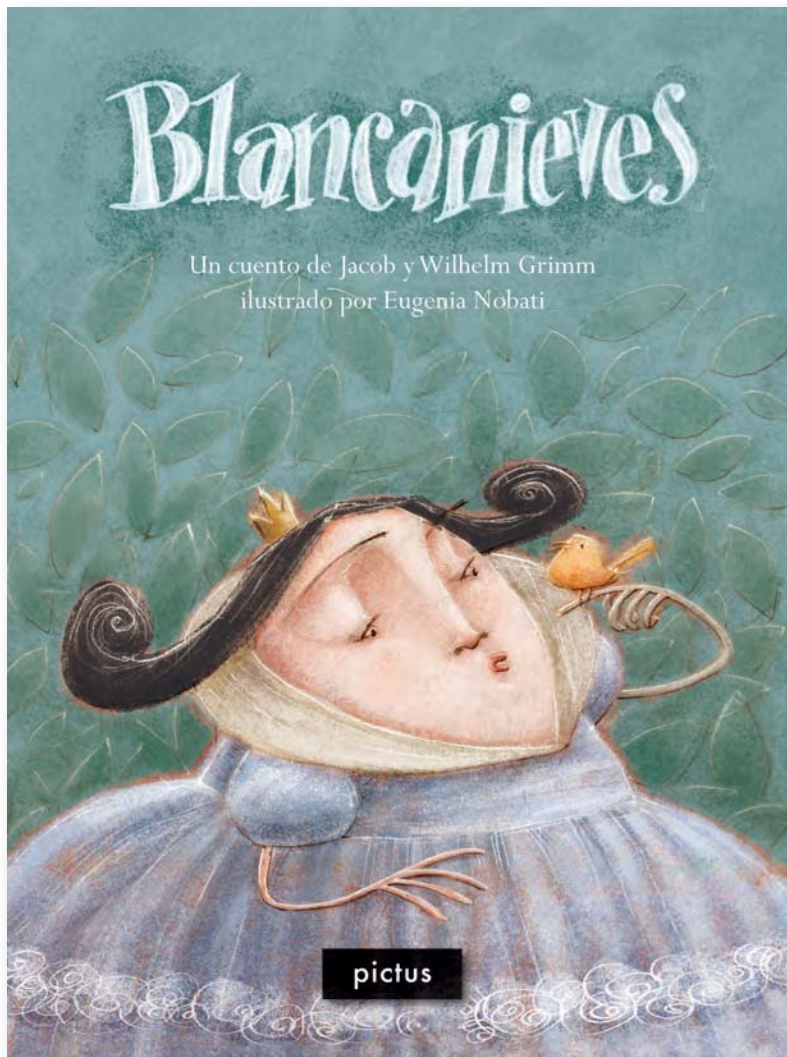

A tender story about the importance of love over the material issues.

Guillermo Höhn, born in 1967 in Santa Fe, Argentina, is Language and Literature professor, writer and editor. He lives with his family in Buenos Aires.

Alejandro Firszt, born in 1965, studied Graphic Design at the Buenos Aires University. He works as university professor and illustrator.
